I didn't talk to Bowles today. I mentioned in passing to Wentzel that I couldn't meet with him in Anchorage bc I was doing bethel then Juneau on friday. I said if they needed to meet with me it would have to be sometime in Juneau.

I will not have time for any moving/packing activity until friday before flt time, this week was way too busy to get any of that done- so I'll need friday to do so. Pls move gary's mtg- or he can talk to me on the phone some day about hismoose issues (after he's spoken to denby or whomever - nizich maybe?)

If I weren't going to bethel I could prepare for my and the kids' move to Juneau - instead I need friday for that and I'll cross my fingers that I'll be finished by the time the flt leaves. If not- the departure time will have to be changed.

Is there another single person to consider who'd fit the role of Energy Coordinator, or is this worthy of sdtatewide public recruitment?

Subject: former Governor Hickel/law school

Dear Governor Palin,
Randy Rauro and I met with former Governor Hickel, Malcolm Roberts, Wally Hickel III, Mr. Aglieti and Mr. Crom about their plans for The Alaska School of Law. Their concept is different from what I had expected. It is not a result of Mr. Wickersham's interest in a law school. To the contrary, they propose a private law school. Aglieti and his partners (including Mr. Crom) are the prime organizers of a proposal for a law school. They have obtained the Hickel family endorsement because of their proposed three key policy "institutes" which would promote studies of 1) Native law, 2) environmental law and 3) the common ownership philosophy of Alaska . They envision a starting student body of 35-50. A starting faculty of 2 plus a dean for a total of three people. They say they have unsuccessfully approached the University four years ago and were shot down because the University expected costs in excess of 40 million. They believe that the university is too institutionally biased to support it. Aglieti has talked to Wickersham but not to the point where they are working together.

Aglieti claims they are seeking no money, just support or at least no opposition. Their project is premised on the assumption that the supreme court would pass a rule allowing students at a non-accredited law school to take the bar. If we oppose this project they believe it would kill the project.

There is some ambiguity about the for profit status of the enterprise. Aglieti said they started as a for profit law school. Then they applied to change it, however, it is not clear from his answer whether it actually is a non-profit at this point.

Randy and I are going to read their materials and meet next week to review our opinions on this. Then we will get back to you.

If it is truly a concept for which they only seek neutrality or an endorsement then it is quite different from embracing a school that would cost millions. I will report back after I meet again with Randy.

Talis

Could there be anything more ridiculous -- or tragically unaware -- than Hawker talking about "appearance of conflicts of interest and plain common sense and decorum in office"? These people are shameless.

Speaking of which, I see Brooke Miles is stepping down. I probably shouldn't randomly suggest someone without clearing it first, but I'd be very surprised if anyone knows those laws better -- or cares more about them -- than Privileged or Per. Not sure he'd be interested, but it sure seems like a great fit for him, the agency, and the people of Alaska.

One "loan-of-my-name" was enough with Gene Therriault's request (the only request I've received to loan my name - from any leggie, R or D).

Just fyi.

MESSAGE:

I think it a disgrace that our state government spends money like a drunken sailor on shore leave. The recent windfall of revenue was quickly allocated according the the loudest voices with the teacher's union getting the lion's share. I am thoroughly disgusted with our state government who missed opportunities to secure a lasting source of revenue for our state in natural gas.

The citizens of the state should share in the resources that "The People of Alaska" own. It is "OURS" and not the states yet the state spends it as if it will never run out.

I propose three things:

1. Privatize the University of Alaska: This will take them off the books for good and force them to be more self sufficient. I worked there for two years in Enrollment Services and Financial Aid and I can tell you that there is so much waste that it puts the state government to shame.

2. Create a Permanent Fund for Government. This fund would be funded from oil and gas revenue and the state government would be funded from the interest on the corpus. The state government would have a permanent source of revenue after the goose that laid the egg is finished roasting. The fund would also go on funding the government so the state would not have to come to the people and tax them.

3. Increase the royalty paid to the citizens in the permanent fund.

Respectfully,

Hard Copy of this letter to follow.

The Honorable Sarah Palin

Office of the Governor

POB 110001

Juneau, AK 99811-0001

Dear Governor Palin:

Happy New Year …and congratulations on your very successful first year in office!

The Alaska Outdoor Council would be honored if you and your family would consider attending some portion of our Annual Statewide Meeting at the Millennium Hotel in Anchorage, February 8-10.

The general meeting plan is to have informative presentations on Friday, February 8, and possibly the morning of Saturday, February 9. The formal business meeting would follow on Saturday and be finished on Sunday morning.

Our Awards Banquet is planned to start at 6 PM, Saturday, February 9.

We would welcome your presence at any or all of the Annual Meeting, but in recognition of your busy schedule let me suggest some options.

We would be delighted if you would agree to be our honored speaker at the Awards Banquet. Apart from presenting awards to recognize conservation achievements, this is a social event.

An alternative could be attending some portion of the Friday or Saturday morning information session or lunch. If you were able to address the delegates on issues of mutual interest and concern it would be of great value to our delegates and other attendees.

I recall that, as Mayor of Wasilla, you spoke at an earlier AOC Awards Banquet in Palmer. I also recall that our guests were quite impressed with your remarks. I am sure that AOC members and sympathizers would be very happy to hear your views now as Governor on the various issues so important to the interests of outdoor Alaskans.

Thank you for your accomplishments and ongoing efforts to improve the management and uses of Alaska's great outdoors.

Please contact me at 455-6151 or Executive Director Rod Arno at 376-2913 in response to our invitation.

Sincerely,

Richard H. Bishop, President

Alaska Outdoor Council, Inc.

Commissioner Von Scheben:

I have been communicating with Mr. Hall at the Milepost and Mr. VanKirk (scheduler) at AMHS for the last two weeks. He was going to try to move back his publishing date by a few days with the thought that Mr. VanKirk could provide him with a schedule for printing in the milepost by the end of January.

Since developing a new schedule that involves not running all the boats on the usual routes takes 6-8 weeks longer to develop than the old schedule, AMHS may want to start the process that much earlier next year to avoid these issues. (I believe this will also take some earlier coordination with OMB as the AMHS schedule is closely tied to the budget.)

Thank you,

Randy
